

Center for Talent Development

School and Student Services

Center for Talent Development (CTD) at Northwestern University is a leader in the fields of gifted education and talent development. We help schools and families access programs and services to identify and nurture exceptional talent in young people.

Identify Students' Strengths and Learning Needs

Engage in above-grade-level assessment, assessment consulting, or data literacy training to build proficiency for talent identification and development through high school and beyond.

Evaluate Programming and Develop Policy

Evaluate current programs and services for impact and equity, create policies that adhere to evidence-based practices, state guidelines, and national standards.

Provide Professional Learning

Participate in a Gifted Education Boot Camp or create customized professional learning on topics including talent development, enrichment and acceleration practices, assessment, youth leadership and more.

Offer Customized Programming for Students and Parents

Collaborate with CTD to offer online, hybrid, or in-person enrichment and accelerated programming, PreK-grade 12, in a variety of content areas, including service-learning and leadership, preparing students for the future.
